

Core B Comp & Lit: Literary Socratic Discussion

For this final activity, we will journey down memory lane. During our time together, we have read 7 short stories and 3 longer works (2 books, 1 play). Now, we will take some time to reflect on those texts. For this graded discussion, choose 3 texts to discuss: 1 text that you think made you a better writer, 1 text that made you a better reader, and 1 text that influenced/impacted your worldview in some way.

“The Lady or the Tiger?”
“The Most Dangerous Game”
“The Ransom of Red Chief”
“The Necklace”
“A Jury of Her Peers”

“The Celestial Railroad”
“The Gift of the Magi”
The Pilgrim’s Progress
The Count of Monte Cristo
A Midsummer Night’s Dream

The focus of the Socratic is two-fold: your personal growth and examining our texts one last time. Once you’ve chosen the texts you want to discuss, spend time trying to think about them vividly. It may be helpful for any short stories chosen that you review the plot/characters/story of each.

On the day of the discussion, please bring with you the attached diagram completed with your thoughts and perspective on each of your chosen texts.

	This text changed me as a reader:	This text changed me as a writer:	This text impacted my worldview:
Why does the text stand out to me?
What were some of my favorite parts?
How did this text challenge me in this area?
Would I recommend this text to someone else? Why or why not?
